

I understand that Sinclair Broadcasting is seeking to to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. What bothers me more than the apparent coercion is that there is no way to know if the "piece" is fiction or non-fiction. I can only assume that the majority who watch will tend to think that the piece is non-fiction and will accept all commentary as truth. The FCC should at least ask that Sinclair repeatedly, throughout the program, remind its viewers that the information has only a kernel of truth or is presented in a manner that serves to highlight Kerry's policies that are not consistent with Republican policies and that this portrayal may not be consistent with Kerry's actual policies.

If you are going to allow Sinclair to air its documentary, please don't allow them to portray it is truth if that is not the case.

Sincerely,
Eric Eiteljorg
